Engaging in Lobbying – Positioning Youth Work

Outcomes and inspiration from the pilot project
'Lobbying for Youth Work' (2019/20)

Jugend für Europa published “Engaging in Lobbying. Positioning Youth Work”. The publication is about the importance and relevance of lobbying for local youth (work) policymaking, and is based on the training course “Lobbying for youth work”.

This publication is especially interesting for (local) youth workers, or people who are part of a national agency or youth work organisation. It could also inspire other national agencies and youth work organisations on how to deal with the topic of lobbying. For example, the Swiss, Flemish, Latvian and German national agencies explain what they learned from the training course “Lobbying for youth work” and how they implemented their experiences in their country and regions.

You can read about:

- what youth work lobbying is
- the importance and relevance of lobbying for local youth (work) policymaking
- how it might look like in different countries
- good practices
- ...

Participants of Germany, Latvia, Croatia, Belgian-Flanders and France can also apply for the next training of “Lobbying for Youth Work”.
