Call for Good Practices: Apply now!

30/05/2025 - News from Europe Goes Local

Does your youth center, organization, or institution have an inspiring practice in local youth work? We are looking for solidarity projects, individual and team volunteering activities implemented in close cooperation or by municipalities. We will invite the providers of eight selected practices for the 'Activating citizens – municipalities and local authorities making use of the European Solidarity Corps' webinar on 6-7 November 2025 to present their project as part of the peer-learning in the online event. To be featured in this seminar, please submit your good practice by October 24, 2025.

'Activating citizens' is a serie of webinars exploring the various possibilities of the European Solidarity Corps to promote voluntary engagement and active citizenship in local communities. The seminars are a cooperation between the SALTO European Solidarity Corps Resource Centre and Europe Goes Local.

Besides the opportunity for the presentations at the webinar, all approved practices will be displayed on the website of Europe Goes Local and promoted through our media channels. Selected practices are contacted for an interview by our communication team. Take a look at all the previously collected ones at Good Practices – Europe Goes Local and view how they are covered in our section EGL in Action. We also facilitate the invitation of selected practices to participate in other online or live events and conferences in our EGL network.

We've already collected, presented, and celebrated over 100 practices, and we invite you now to join this rich database of Europe Goes Local!

To submit yours, go to Good practices – Europe Goes Local, register, and follow the steps!

The call is ongoing to submit a practice to the EGL database. However, if you intend to present your practice at the 'Activating citizens' webinar, please submit it by 24th of October.
