

Faces of local youth work: Stefania Kampouri, Thermi Youth Council Secretary

05/10/2026 - Faces of EGL

Stefania Kampouri Megalokonomou is an Environmental Engineer with an MSc in Atmosphere, Energy and Climate Change from the Democritus University of Thrace and is currently pursuing an MSc in Marketing for the Agro-Food Sector at Cardiff Metropolitan University. She is the Secretary of the Youth Council of the Municipality of Thermi, Greece, and is actively involved in youth participation, community initiatives and European youth cooperation.

She is passionate about education, creativity, environmental issues, and creating meaningful spaces where people can connect, participate, and feel comfortable expressing themselves. Whether facilitating a workshop, working on a project or contributing to a community initiative, she strives to create inclusive and welcoming environments where every voice is heard, and everyone feels that they have a place. She is particularly interested in participatory democracy and in strengthening the connections between people, communities, and the spaces they share.
